A world map is formed by a dense arrangement of small, repeating text blocks. The text is in a light gray color and is arranged in a way that the overall shape of the map is recognizable. The text blocks are of varying sizes and are arranged in a way that they fit together to form the continents. The text is in a sans-serif font and is all in lowercase. The text is arranged in a way that it is difficult to read, but it is clear that it is a world map. The text is arranged in a way that it is difficult to read, but it is clear that it is a world map.
